

Familiar and Cuddly

StayingMe is all about preserving memories, preserving identity, preserving you.

For Carers

We have a number of products aimed at helping carers of all kinds - from relaxation to organizational tools. While a loss of identity is frequently associated with dementia, carers are also gravely at risk of losing their identity, of knowing who they are.

For those with Dementia

To help rediscover and reinforce older memories, we have Memory Books, the Memory Game as well as other memory recall aids. We also have items such as our Bonding Bears to help improve emotional condition.

Bonding Bears—Connecting with the Past

Dementia will often rob our loved ones of their most precious memories. They may not recognise their closest loved ones—they may not even recognise themselves.

This can lead to a kind of emotional isolation, with no-one and nothing that they can love as their own.

Our bonding bears may help. They are soft and cuddly and as age and dementia take their toll, they can be an invaluable and cherished companion - a focal point for the love and compassion that people still feel the need to express.

Often, by including an image from the person's childhood - perhaps even themselves - a real connection, a real bond, can be established that may bring a sense of security and well-being.

Bonding bears are suitable for both male and females alike.
